Curators of the University of Missouri: Guardians of a Legacy

Imagine a tapestry woven with threads of knowledge, innovation, and community – this is the University of Missouri, a legacy spanning over 175 years. And at the helm of this grand institution, guiding its growth and safeguarding its values, stand the Curators: a unique governing board responsible for shaping the future of Mizzou. The story of the Curators is intertwined with the very fabric of the university. Just as the first pioneers carved their way through the rugged Missouri landscape, these dedicated individuals have navigated the changing tides of higher education, ensuring Mizzou remains a beacon of opportunity and excellence.

From Humble Beginnings to a Visionary Board

In 1839, the Missouri legislature established the University of Missouri, placing its governance in the hands of a 12-member Board of Curators. This visionary group, drawn from diverse backgrounds and professions, was tasked with fostering a university that would serve the state's needs – not only academically, but also in advancing its economic prosperity and social progress. These early Curators, much like the pioneers of old, faced immense challenges. They navigated the tumultuous landscape of the Civil War, the Great Depression, and the ever-evolving world of higher education. Yet, their unwavering commitment to Mizzou's mission – to educate, to discover, and to engage – remained steadfast.

Shaping the Landscape of Mizzou

The impact of the Curators is undeniable. Their decisions have shaped the university's landscape, from the construction of iconic buildings like Jesse Hall and Memorial Stadium to the expansion of academic programs and the recruitment of renowned faculty. They fostered the growth of Mizzou's research enterprise, propelling it to the forefront of scientific discovery. They championed diversity and inclusion, ensuring that Mizzou welcomes students from all walks of life. They championed new technologies, embracing the digital revolution and preparing students for the future.

A Story Told Through Anecdotes

One such story, recounted by former Mizzou chancellor

Brady Deaton, highlights the Curators' unwavering commitment to the university's mission. During a challenging economic period, Deaton proposed a significant budget cut, fearing the Curators would be hesitant. To his surprise, the Curators immediately rejected the idea, stating, "We will find a way to fund this, because we believe in this initiative." This anecdote speaks volumes about the Curators' deep dedication to supporting the university's core values, even in the face of adversity. Another captivating tale involves the establishment of the MU School of Medicine. In the early 20th century, Missouri lacked a medical school, forcing students to pursue their education elsewhere. A group of visionary Curators, recognizing this need, embarked on a bold campaign to establish a medical school at Mizzou. They tirelessly lobbied the state legislature, secured funding, and ultimately realized their vision – a testament to their commitment to building a comprehensive university that would serve the state's needs.

The Curators Today: Navigating the Future

Today, the Curators continue to serve as the guiding force behind Mizzou, ensuring its continued excellence and relevance in the rapidly changing world of higher education. They are comprised of 8 individuals appointed by the Missouri governor and confirmed by the state senate, representing a diverse array of perspectives and expertise. These modern-day Curators face new challenges: increasing costs of higher education, the need to adapt to technological advancements, and the rising importance of global engagement. But their commitment remains steadfast – to preserve Mizzou’s legacy while preparing students for a future that promises both opportunity and uncertainty.
